

*The Jeweled Turret Inn
requests the pleasure of your company
in a quieter time and place....*

A lovely Victorian lady with columns, turrets, and gables, the inn was originally built for prominent Belfast attorney James S. Harriman and his wife Nell. The year was 1898, a time when homes were designed for elegant entertaining, furnishings were rich and elaborate, and there was a true graciousness to living.

Here at The Jeweled Turret Inn, this serene era continues.

Step inside The Jeweled Turret Inn and you will be transported.

Look around you at the oak, maple, fir, rattan, and pine woodwork . . . the parlor's turret windows swathed in lace . . . the carved furniture and ornate decor . . . the four fireplaces, including the especially fascinating one in the den that's said to include rocks brought from every state in the Union.

It's no wonder the inn is listed as a Landmark on the National Register of Historic Places.

*Every guest chamber at the Jeweled Turret
is a gem.*

The bedrooms invite you to indulge in your romantic surroundings. With four-poster and scrolled-iron beds, beautiful linens, antique furnishings, and other treasures from Victorian days, they are wonderfully nostalgic hideaways from today's cares.

After a night of sweet dreams, you'll awaken to the aroma of freshly brewed gourmet coffee. In the oak-paneled dining room, a full breakfast awaits you: fresh fruits, scones and pastries, and such Jeweled Turret specialties as German pancakes and sourdough gingerbread waffles.

*Arrive
by teatime,
if you can.*

The silver service will be set by the fire. Or, if the day is warm, there'll be tall glasses of iced tea and lemonade on the veranda.

Sweets, too, of course, on a pretty tray.

Then spend a peaceful night with us, or while away a longer sojourn. You'll snuggle beneath fluffy comforters and soft ruffles each night. And begin each day with a very special breakfast as the sun streams through the jeweled-glass windows in the turret that gave the inn its name.

Belfast is an architectural treasure.

Settled in 1770, the town's past prosperity in fishing, shipbuilding, commerce, and industry has left a legacy of fine Greek and Gothic revivals, Italianates, Capes, Mansards, and Queen Annes. You can begin a historic walking tour from our front door, and several homes may be toured upon request.

Just down the hill from the inn are Belfast's intriguing shops and cozy restaurants, all tucked into the fine nineteenth-century brick buildings that march up from the waterfront.

There's lots to do nearby, too, thanks to scenic cruises, golf, tennis, art galleries, a cornucopia of antiques shops, acclaimed summer theatre, concerts, festivals, lobster picnics, train excursions, museums, and great places to hike and swim.

Explore as much as you'd like, or just spend your time relaxing in the parlors or on our shady verandas.
